Mystical Meditations on the Hebrew Alphabet

by Dolores Ashcroft-Nowicki

Beginning with the 11th Path each Letter of the Path is discussed and dissected at an esoteric level drawing you to your own insights.

This book will be the topic of our next course of Qabalistic studies.

From the Book of QBL

Kether as the Nebulae...

If we think of Kether as being the pre-explosive power behind Created Existence, and Chokmah and the expansive explosion regularised by Binah resulting in Da'ath, we shall see the Supernal Power-picture, lacking nothing except the One Who presses the button. The same One dwelling in Nothing (Ain) behind All.

The Nebulae are the first Something out of the Everything which is Nothing in our material Universe. If we say anything is nebulous we mean it is barely just into being. It is a pity we have associated nebulousity with ineffectuality, because the reverse is the case. A lesser power does not produce a greater one. When we have nebulous ideas we are actually contacting them on their most potent level. We may never be able to materialize them down the tree, but that is due to our own incompetence and not the feebleness of the ideas. All the same, it is our most nebulous ideas that have always led us higher than the others. They are bound to do so if they emanate from Kether. Therefore, they are certainly worth following once we are wise enough to discern their star-like Light.

Kether

The Hebrew Triad

The ancient Qabalists used the letter שׁין, Shin to signify the trinity of the first three Sephiroth. The central circle slightly above the other two is the first Sephira- Kether, the White head, the Crown. The other two circles represent Chokmah, the Father and Binah, the Mother. From the union of the Divine Father and the Divine Mother are produced worlds and the generations of living things. The three flame-like points of the letter have long been used to conceal the Creative Triad of the Qabalists
